

Lifeloc Technologies to Distribute New Drug Test for K2 and Spice

Lifeloc adds to its growing line of drug screening products for Corrections, Law Enforcement and Workplace testing with a new instant test for K2 and Spice.

Denver, CO (PRWEB) April 16, 2012 -- Lifeloc Technologies (OTC: LCTC), a trusted international provider of professional alcohol breath testing equipment for Workplace, Law Enforcement and Corrections use today announced the addition of a new test for the detection of K2 and Spice to its growing line of drug screening products.

K2 or “Spice” is mixture of herbs and spices usually sprayed with a synthetic compound similar to THC, the psychoactive ingredient in marijuana. The psychoactive ingredients in Spice, known as JWH-018 and JWH-073 are illegal in many countries. The U.S. Drug Enforcement Agency made these compounds illegal in the United States in March 2011.

Commented Kelly Silverman, Director of Product Management at Lifeloc, "The rapidly growing abuse of synthetic cannabinoids like Spice and the lack of tools to be able to detect these drugs has made it increasingly challenging to control the problem. This new state of the art drug screen detects the two major metabolites, JWH-018 and JWH-073, found in K2 and Spice."

Easy to use, the simple dip and read instant urine drug test provides fast, accurate results making it a perfect solution for the fight against synthetics.
